
Subject: Does CaptKurt ever give up, honestly?
Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Thu, 17 Jul 2003 02:23:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

xSeth2k2xits all true ack

Narcissists use everyone around them to keep themselves inflated. Often they find flaws in others and criticize them fiercely, for this further distinguishes them from those who are defective. Because of their underlying need for voice and the resultant bluster, narcissists often work their way to the center of their "circle," or the top of their organization. Indeed, they may be the mentor or guru for others. The second they are snubbed, however, they rage at their "enemy." Demands to be recognized as superior without commensurate achievements. Requires excessive admiration, adulation, attention and affirmation - or, failing that, wishes to be feared and to be notorious. Summarized from: American Psychiatric Association. (1994).

i noticed you correct alot of spelling and grammer

Than you should also notice that him correcting spelling and grammar (Remember, there is no "e" in "grammar".) has absolutely nothing to do with narcissism. Have you even read that definition? lol... Read over your reply and think before you post.

Also, take some time to actually read what has been posted in this thread. Scroll up and read warranto's reply, it compares ACK to the definition of a naarcissist.

Basicly, most of the people here possess at least some of the traits that are described in the definition of a narcissist.
