C'mon cheese! Well, I understand what you are saying but Trance (especially Trance of all other electronica) DOES NOT lack a human component.

I know it is created "artificially" but it is music. It will take over your mind and will subdue it...soon you would be dancing or moving some leg or hand to it. You would be in a distant galaxy in a space fighter or in a supercar cruising at high speeds on the Autobahn (among many other imagery things). Trance evokes those images in your brain. It is powerful music. I think there is something human in that.

It is my drug that I cannot go without. It brightens up my day nomatter how crap a day is. I go to sleep with Trance in my ears.

And the tune is what really is appealing. Tunes that cannot be made by any human alone. Awesome tunes...right MadRockz? LOL
