alot of people are complaining that the quads are slower that 6000x2 and 6400x2 processors, and with that they are also full of bugs and flaws. i would suggest to drop the quad idea for now, buy a cheap 6000x2 or 6400x2 and wait until amd sorts out all the bugs and random issues with the quads.

btw your case is a bit too small for a good video card... just read the reviews on that case. people had to cut pieces of aluminum to fit their 8800s cards... so unless you want to get into heavy modification i suggest you pick a bigger case. look at the dimensions of them in the specs tab.
