Well, if you could make a cloned script that is attached to the tiberium zone then yeah you could. It would be quite crude, but if you was to remove the normal WW script, then attach yours instead it might work.

You would have to do alot of work on the ::Entered event for the bots, and it would most likely never be super smooth that way, but yeah. You could in theory I guess.

Either that or be super cheap and just give the bots a chem suit sheild instead of kevlar.
