That's just selfish. Why should you get it and not us?

Because you haven't released anything. You may say the same about RA2:AR but since we are camping with APB, we are set.

RA2:AR is in the comfortable position of being the middle child in the TC mod world. APB being the older child, who looks down on the attention seeking Reborn (the youngest child).

(Nothing of this has to do with the mod's physical age though. It's just a metaphor).

If I were dishing out the code I'd give it to RP2, since their mod is a total conversion in my eyes (but just not standalone). I've heard a bit about RenHalo, but it seems to be all talk and not much stuff being shown (aside from a modified APB ranger that was shown a while back).

Plus, there is nothing stopping you from using the modified engine builds minus the source code when new iterations are produced.
