You should be able to find the recommended oil in the manual that came with the car. Usually, it'll be sitting in the glovebox, unless you've somehow lost it, in which case I'd go and find it if I were you; you'll definitely want it.

There's a good chance it'll be asking for 5w20, or 5w30; 5w20 should be fine, but check the owners manual just to be sure.

As for a filter, here's one website that shows a bunch.

I'd go with the Bosch one, because it's basic, and they make good stuff. If you don't want to buy online, then head to a place like 'Pep Boys' , but they may only stock one brand.
