Buy a shitload of it now, and put it in your freezer

EDIT: I doubt film will go away. There are lots of other film makers besides Polaroid (Fuji, Scotch, 3M, etc).

Consider that they still make and sell viynl records, just because a relatively few people still like them.

The only tech I have seen truly go away is the production of betamax VCR's and tapes, and hell, they probably still make those in Taiwan some where
