

---

Subject: Re: Banned for "aimbot" LMFAO
Posted by mrpirate on Thu, 27 Mar 2008 01:34:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

@Blazer:

Actually, there is a reason to fight a ban that some idiot makes on a server you don't want to play on. When I was still playing I would get banned from a server I did like, or least felt like playing on sometimes, and when I went to fight it there would be a mod there who was also a mod on some other dumbass server I'd been unjustly banned from previously. So their logic would be: "you're banned from server x for cheating, so you must be a cheater, so no matter how much evidence you provide to the contrary I will never believe you." And by this point it'd be way too late for me to go back and fight the original silly ban they'd based their opinion on, and I'd be stuck.

Not that I think there's a huge chance of this happening to Starbuzz, but it's usually worth defending your Reneputation.

---