No you proved how well you can't handle taking losing. Where is me I can take losses, because I play this game for the fun and challenge. As for talking shit "Oh the irony!". You'r on of these types that will always blame it on the team, or map or lag or whatever fits your street.

I let you pick a dedicated server and I even let you pick a side.
But good job beating me on island. The next map you start to whine up when the cards are not on your side.

Then you decide to switch side when I am about to steal your med. Making the server to shutdown. Not only did you prove that you are a whiner you also proved that you are a sad loser.
