probably just time on his hand, he most likely won't release this like other mods he was working on, gives eye candy, but no finishing products for the community

ex. <http://www.renstickdeath.2ya.com/> looks like you were doing good with that one, posting pics and giving links to the site and everything, then you just run off, and leave it, now your back again, when you going to run off for good? just showing stuff and not giving it out is a waste of the mod communities time.....

I pmed you about this mod wondering how it was going after a month of no updates, you replied something along the lines of "I'm in 8 mod teams, i don't have time" crap, you should know your work limits, stick to them, and produce things instead of half done crap.
