Titan1x77AircraftkillerMy intention wasn't to point anything out besides the fact that the level is poorly done. How can you extrapolate the meaning like I just did? Try thinking in broader terms.

"That level is poorly done."

Taken literally, as it was meant to be; it means that the level is poorly done in every aspect.

You show no Respect to anybody...That Level took me time and patience and you can't respect that at all.

My 1st map completed in Ren-x and you bash it every chance you get.

Country meadows was poorly done...do i bash it everytime i see a post about it....do i comment about 2/3's of your maps are from WW projects that were handed to you half finished.

Show some respect to your peers,were all here to enjoy RENEGADE.

I hope you leave this community soon....in any way or fashion.

You're not the first to say that, and you're definitely not going to be the last.

My opinions are what matter to me concerning levels that other people have made. Having played it, seen it, and being thoroughly disgusted with it; I'll be sure to continue giving my opinion of the level to anyone.

Muffins, that isn't his first try. More like his sixth try, and it still doesn't come close to the standard that Westwood set.
