Hmhmh, I think a mix of the 2 idea's would be the best option (spoons and the battle prime time), im thinking have 1 host (2 is too difficult), introduce the game, and then play clips (or a part of) a 1v1 or 2v2 of feild, (I could fraps, I already got alot of video's (most on youtube already)), 2 people narrate what exactly is going on, the vechs, tactics being used, possisble outcomes, etc, and then maybe a public server like jelly game, and then a conclusion by the host. Something like this in my mind can take maybe even only a week and only requires:

- 1 host (with camera, "studio", or webcam with software)
 - 2 commentaries (2 cw.cc people because they know tactics)
 - fraps'r, video software and server with !spectate (I know how to use all 3, and so do other people)
 - teamspeak server to record everything while its going on (2 commentatores, and the fraps'r.
 - someone with sony vegas, etc skills (im ok) to put it all together.
