Okay, I get the point to being helpful, but n00bstories DOES have an IRC applet on their site. It seems like THAT would not only be a more EFFICIENT way of figuring out this problem with people that are actually capable of helping, but it would actually help to support independence. I hate using these stupid cliches, but they're so damn right... "give a man a fish, and he'll eat for a day. teach a man to fish, and he'll eat for a lifetime." Stop coddling people who are capable of doing this on their own be it by figuring it out themselves or asking the RIGHT people. Seriously, how hard is it to actually think, "I was in the N00BSTORIES server, so I should GOOGLE 'n00bstories'"? Hell, it's not even a stretch of the imagination to try n00bstories.com...
