I just bought a 32 players server the name of the server is C0dysvr. I would like some help setting up the BR.NET.

Many people have tried to do it(including me) but it is really hard to set it up because of course it is a rental and i don't have psycally access to it.

I want to run a 32 sniper game because the server has a kinda crappy video card and people only get about 35-40 FPS when everybody have a tank and it gets terrible on field, but a less than 200 ping steady(that means it is good bandwith)I've never had any problems with it myself those are just statements from people that have tried my server, even though people seem to like my server and it has been full constantly since the first day i bought it. It doesn't lag at all if no one have tanks, I've noticed that because when a new map starts everybody have 60 FPS, so that's why i think sniper would be better and another reason is that i love to snipe .

I'm paying the server by myself and the main reason i bought it is because lots of people are leaving this game everyday and it is good to start bringing public servers so people would stick around for a longer time.

Anyway if anyone wants to help me i would appreciate it because I've been trying for 1 week now and i seem like im lost.

Plus when i get the BR working i will put up a site with forums and a ladder for it and i will need lots of MODS to kick all those n00bs that refuse to buy vehicles instead snipers.

Reply this if you would like to help me out or send me a PM thx.
