lunno, just looks alittle bit fake. Professional even.

FYI according to the EXIF data in the picture, it was taken January 2006 with a 12.4 Megapixel Nikon D2X, which at the time was Nikons flagship modem and cost several thousand dollars. This sort of camera is usually only used by professional photographers for photo shoots...hardly something one would carry around for a day hike.

Things that make you go hmmm

Ownt
