Actually I didn't make it, all I do is provide a few ideas and test shit. And play it, and etc. I don't make it.

Also, it's not being released because of the fact that there's still some bugs and scripting that need to be put in. Just finalizing stuff.

Now tell me, what oh-so-famous mods have you made with a fairly large userbase, quite a few dedicated players, a whole server dedicated solely to playing it, along with a coder and a few helpers to make it even MORE awesome, and claiming the title of the biggest Renegade map in existence?

That you made all your own or with your own mod team, that is. So no, ripping rp2 and editing the objects.ddb slightly does not make you a person working on rp2.
