renalpha wrote on Sat, 17 May 2008 14:54ye i tried it at my work so i couldnt test it out.

however good that it works in suse

the thing i want to do is let people know that it is possible to setup a ren server on linux.

thx for trying it on suse.
now we now that works too.

on ubuntu i had to install some packages afterwards.

Because of you I got the idea to install it on my webserver.

I am very pleased with the FDS on Linux. To bad it never really got alot of attention. That brings me to another question how many servers owners actually run the FDS 24/7 on a Linux distribution in productive envoirement.
