I have no problem with the fact that people can sue others for the stupidest of things, as long as the courts don't waste tax payer money and throw out the lawsuits. My problem is just with the people behind the lawsuits. It's these people that blatantly ignore the concept of personal responsibility and will blame everybody but themselves.

It's just funny that these parents care so much about their child's health AFTER this accident happened. If they are this concerned over the safety issues caused by metal bats, perhaps they should have been BEFORE this incident.
