done as a patch after all the important stuff has been done.

Yep, jesus some fans could make some skins if they so concerned over dirt. :/

I don't really care if a vehicle is clean or not, but since it just been produced in the weapons, it would be clean, it makes sense, it's like what came first, chicken or the egg. :/

If there was someway to show dirt as time goes by, that be cool, you can show damage right why not dirt?

Old, dirty, re-used metal might be used in the factory. That'd make the vehicles have a sandy look.

That wouldn't make any difference, since it be given a paint job.
