Dont forget to buy Explorerships to get detection against nukes (2 explorerships, no more, not much gas on the map). There's another free mineral&gas spot somewhere which you'll have to take to. Then you've already pretty much won, you can either nuke the northern base to death with ghosts or mass an assault army with >8 Troop transports and try to take over the ion cannon that way.

PS: Im looking forward to both.

Thanks. Let me try that today.

I just need to move out on the offense a bit quicker.

Yeah, the Soviets were my favorite side in RA2.
