Dont forget to buy Explorerships to get detection against nukes (2 explorerships, no more, not much gas on the map). There's another free mineral&gas spot somewhere which you'll have to take to. Then you've already pretty much won, you can either nuke the northern base to death with ghosts or mass an assault army with >8 Trooptransports and try to takeo ver the ion cannon that way.

PS: Im looking forward to both.

Funny how I missed this but when I read it I thought "wtf stupid enough?" I like RA2 much better nice and simple!

PS. I read about those things that shoot out people, wtf is next in this stupid game? Buildings that can be built on water(other than the factory that makes boats), oh yea that's right they thought of that too I guess all they need to finish the stupidity of this game is dolphins that can go on land and fly.
