I have more maintance issues with my XP machine than with my Vista one. Point in case... I'm watching my XP machine DL SP3 (again) because my brother fucked it over. He wouldn't be able to fuck over my Vista machine, because I could leave UAC on. (Mind you, he wouldn't be able to move the mouse pointer...)

Vista rocks for users who are unsure of PCs, like my mum. XP, is however, slightly faster. (Not that you notice with a quad core)

Not being able to run most games on Vista is a pain, and not being able to play Vista to XP over the LAN is also a major pain.

Vista does kinda suck for gaming, but is good for people like my mum, who struggles with PCs.
