

---

Subject: Re: What is your dream ride?

Posted by Romaner on Tue, 08 Jul 2008 20:55:25 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

luv2pb wrote on Tue, 08 July 2008 14:24

That is the thing though. As a WRX owner I can assure you that in fact I do own the road.

WRX's are nice, dont get me wrong. i love the awd and the hp on them is really good. ofcourse STI will tear them apart but thats why its another 6000$ more, right? personally i find them on the small side, im a big person... 6' tall and about 240lbs, but then again judging by your pic luv you are not small either lol. for me though there isnt enough room in there. also the gas milage is terrible, but ofcourse thats the trade off you get for having over 250hp. by terrible im talking 18 mpg if you drive like my coworker does... and it runs on premium only. which here is 5.6$/gallon. i would rather go with audi a4 quattro or awd Lexus IS250. they are just 5k more and they have good gas milage, like mid 20's while still needing premium. and obviously they have the awd part down. and while not being as fast they are luxurious will still tear most cars on the road apart... and have the comfort thing nailed down

---