
Subject: Re: Perfect snipers - cheaters or Uber-players?

Posted by Jamie or NuneGa on Fri, 18 Jul 2008 14:17:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

TD wrote on Fri, 18 July 2008 11:37 Low ping, High FPS, High SFPS, fast gaming computer, good flatscreen monitor, good Wireless and infrared mouse, in the mood for sniping, had enough caffeine, fast reaction time, great luck. The result of a combination of them all is kinda what you described, but seeing as that's not the case so easily, there's got to be a triggerbot or *cheat name removed*involved in some cases.

Sometimes I just get lucky and am in the right mood for Renesniping, and I just headshot a few people in a row easily, making them go like w?Tf ch3t.

TD is bad sniper, don't listen to him.

The best snipers will always take the shot that is easiest, this guy was proolly rgh'in.

It usually occurs that you can hit the arm or foot of someone when they are behind a wall, therefore if this sniper was truely the best he would have done this, rather than always hs. It is also possible to hit someone's gun when it slightly sticks through wall, a reallly really good sniper would also be able to do this.

What was the guys name?
