npsmith82Infinintthay cant make money off the mod becuse its still part of renegade yet if you could its would be worth as much as renegade (ITs so good!)However, i do believe that they can make money if they were to offer the released product written onto CD, mailed directly to the clients address instead of downloading it. As they are paying for the postage & packing, not the mod itself.

This is what the guys have said that are making the Desert Combat mod for Battlefield 1942.

They can not charge anything for this without the express concent of whoever holds the copyright. In this case EA. Any expenses incurred by them can not be recoverable by the sale of the product. Unless they want EA to sue.
