Yeah, it's ridiculous how anal certain mods and admins have become over beacons. I think they were so tired of how annoying the placement noise was and could be abused, they only allow them to be placed in a certain way.

I've essentially had the same thing happen to me, and it's completely irrational of them to interfere in that way. Do your job and keep the players in line and get rid of cheaters, but let the ones who want to play, play.

Just do what I did, find another server (though the same thing might happen to you there).
