I doubt Iran wants a war with either Israel or America. Ahmedinejad visited America twice not too long ago, and expressed that all nuclear weapons should be banned, and that the UN should be looking into making that ban.

I'm sure Israel wants a war with Iran, and that America (under whatever administration) will step aside and let it happen, though either way it won't be a good idea. Iran has major influence over southern and central Iraq, as well as Lebanon. Any Israeli or American lead attack on Iran would result in a jump in the insurgency in Iraq, and probably another war between the Lebanese and Israel.
