
Subject: Re: Sorry :/

Posted by u6795 on Fri, 01 Aug 2008 00:14:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Renerage wrote on Thu, 31 July 2008 20:09u6795 wrote on Thu, 31 July 2008 20:05Renerage wrote on Thu, 31 July 2008 20:02Because, I know what its like to be a clean, and still be banned from servers for his past offence.

So,
Ban evade means he can play, cleanly. A whole new beginning.
I did it, and I'm doing fine now.

Yeah, but the thing is it's still wrong. I don't care who it is- if they evade a ban of any sort I'm not just going to say 'whoa okay this is a new account I better leave him alone.'" I'm going to kick his ass, because I didn't want him on my server before, and that hasn't changed. That's just my personal opinion.

If you WANT to do it, fine, go ahead and try it, but it's up to the server's discretion if they want to keep banning you. The #1 mistake you can make with that though is announcing it on the forum that a lot of Renegade players read.

Edit: HORQWER's just that kind of idiot, though. One way or another we'll all find out what his new account is, and it'll undoubtedly be his fault.

100% agree.

But most people dont give cheaters a second chance, the names he used would be blacklisted, he'd be banned, and he'd be back here crying saying he's trying to not cheat, and still banned.

Thats why you have to see it from his point of view,
He's not going to be accepted as Whorequeer, so why not start fresh as a totally new alias that has hopefully learned some table manners?

Cuz he's still WHOREQUEER, and I wouldn't trust him to change a single bit for several years.
