

---

Subject: Re: Election betting thread...

Posted by GoArmy44 on Sun, 03 Aug 2008 03:23:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

cheesesoda wrote on Sat, 02 August 2008 17:58 Your assumption that Democrats (including Obama) are that much different from Republicans just shows how naive you are. Both parties are essentially the same. They just have slightly different agendas, neither of which are positive for America.

We need a third party leadership. Be it Libertarian, Green, Constitutional, or any other party that will shake up the results. I just pray that it'll never be the Communist or Socialist parties.

Edit: That Rush quote would work if there were only two choices. As it is, there are DOZENS. It makes no sense why someone would hate both apples and oranges, but force themselves to choose one or the other, even though they could just as easily want mangos, pineapples, grapes, kiwis, plums, nectarines, peaches, etc...

Sure, the store may only carry apples and oranges, but if you bitch and moan and still buy one of the two fruits, the store isn't going to change a damn thing because you're still buying fruit.

That's right, there is a reason they are called the Republicrats. Which party is going to fix the financial mess the Federal Reserve has created? Which party is going to actually protect the sovereignty of this nation by enforcing a logical border policy? Which party is going to decrease spending both foreign and domestic to a level that is sustainable? NONE, both are big government parties that have pretty much made the Constitution a useless piece of paper.

---