I've no idea what the underdog statement is about, pretty pointless really in the current situation.

It boils down to this, we love the server how it is. We want our server on the ladder. As it stands we're told that isn't possible. So we agree to trial an idea put forward by Spooky, which is rejected, and everything goes quiet.

We don't want to change gameplay in a very popular server, we have people that love how the games are played out as they are, what is so wrong with that?
