Obama wants to give people $1000 rebates for the cost of fuel... including those that DON'T drive. How does he expect to pay for that? By taxing the oil companies. OF COURSE! BRILLIANT IDEA! THAT WON'T FORCE THE OIL COMPANIES TO RAISE THEIR PRICES, NEGATING THE REBATE.

Then Obama is FOR RFID chips. Not to mention his flip-flopping and ignoring the questions. He's also the CITIZEN OF THE WORLD. What a fucking blowhard. It's nothing but pandering to the idiots.

McCain, he supports the REAL ID Act, as well. He doesn't seem to want to shrink the government any, either.

Bob Barr is too conservative for my liking. He doesn't seem to be too moderate to be a libertarian. He doesn't go balls to the wall with getting rid of the IRS and welfare programs.

Quite frankly, I don't LOVE any of those three candidates. In fact, I HATE McCain and Obama. I don't hate Barr, but I wish he had a little bit more libertarian leanings... seeing as he's the Libertarian Party candidate, but he's the closest besides Ron Paul.
