I suppose it is a remain from the classic buildings, wich were designed with elevators, but later on canceled. Still available in the gmax building pack.

Same is true for the Hand of Nod, It has a 3rd door, and cracks in it's tower, for a deleted old room that provided rooftop access.

So that explains it! I always wondered why it was floating in the air. I assumed it was supposed to be on the wall, but it appears a wall was supposed to be where it's at.
