I'll admit I skip them too. ./ Point-by-point responses are kinda... abrasive and frankly, the fact that you need to so clearly counter each point is a little insulting. You could just write a bit more about your stance in each post and let us determine what to take from it. Also I think you need to find a synonym for sensationalism. (I think you are throwing it around a bit too much Pawky and some of the usages don't exactly make sense to me)
