Integrated Audio is not the same now a days. Get a seperate sound card.

I would reccomend the Asus. Asus tech support is really good about sending you a new one if it breaks. When my motherboard died, in such a way that it would turn on then immediately shut off. This was literally the conversation. "Ok when you turn it on it shuts back off after a few seconds. I tried removing every part and no matter what is in there it does it. However the light on the mobo that means it is ok is still on." "Hmm ok... well you started it without the CPU-1 power connector in right?" "Yeah" "Ok is the CPU out right now?" "No" "Ok well just remove that for me will you?" "Ok... Still does it." "Alright well let me get you an RMA number, hang on..."

I am currently using the Asus M2N32-SLI Deluxe Wifi Edition.
