Subject: Re: Learned the hard way
Posted by NukeIt15 on Mon, 11 Aug 2008 16:34:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's a problem easily solved... mount a bug zapper light near but not next to your computer. As an added benefit, you can watch the lousy insects fry during loading screens.

Or, y'know, never leave your computer on when you're not using it.