When will people learn that others will lie directly to their faces? I mean, if people are willing to lie in person, then there's no reason to believe that people are any more truthful on the Internet. Do people trick themselves into thinking that people are injected with a truth serum before they log onto the web?

You people need to just detach yourselves from the Internet if you get that hurt over something as trivial as lying on the Internet. I'm sure every one of you upset over this whole ordeal has been 100% truthful, especially on the Internet. BECAUSE WE ALL KNOW YOU ARE SAINTS THAT ARE RIGHTEOUS IN PASSING JUDGMENT ON OTHERS.
