this morning I log into jellyserve marathon. As a personal rule, I leave if the team is loosing. But if they loose when I'm playing I stay with it.

Well, I was GDI and all nod had was a few tanks and their airstrip.

There were 3-4 mammoths seiging their bace. That was it. No hotties.

Whenever a mammy was under THREE FOURTHS health they spamed DONT GET IN MY WAY and go all the way back to base to repair themselves. There weren't any hotties.

Eventualy I got killed, and lo and behold, 8 people camping at a MCT waiting to buy tanks...

They didn't want to be hotties to support tanks, they wanted tanks, and them bitched that there werent any hotties..

About 10 mins later, NOD kills GDI in one fell swoop

Seriously, I think I lost a few brain cells...

this was on field btw
