From what I've seen/heard, Obama is a very powerful speaker, and the media seems to be leaning a little more on his side. McCain is all about war, and he has a very bias opinion about things. Honestly, I think Obama is going to be president.

I can't really chose which one I support the most, Obama doesn't really have much of a plan, he only knows the issues, and McCain is very religious and... as I said, bias.
