
Subject: Re: McCain picks his vp.
Posted by JohnDoe on Tue, 09 Sep 2008 19:47:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

u6795 wrote on Tue, 09 September 2008 13:59JohnDoe wrote on Tue, 09 September 2008 07:37u6795 wrote on Tue, 09 September 2008 05:37JohnDoe wrote on Tue, 09 September 2008 03:35Calm down, geek...do you really believe anyone values the opinion of an angry, anti-social teenager? Well, maybe that Muad dummy and these two:

Ryu:
Occupation: Pc Nerd.
Interests: Pc, games, Coca-Cola, Coffee, Boobs.

CarrierII:
Occupation: PC game Player - Student
Interests: Games
Biography: Well, I sit at home and play... with the PC... pretty dull.

Stop crying, catch some fresh air instead.
Good job ignoring good responses to the topic and instead fagging it up with your retarded bullshit. Will it ever end?

And no, I don't give a dick about you guys and your hurf durf macho act, that's cool, you guys can be whatever you want in life, but if you think that means anything on the internet.. you're pretty wrong. Anyways, lol @ the irony of you calling someone a geek on a forum about a PC game..

You've got to be like, the worst troll ever, dude.

How's that "pretty dull life" of yours doing? Still incredibly uneventful? I notice that you've changed your profile and added friends to your interests...pretty sad how insecure I've managed to make you.

Concerning my alleged hypocrisy, I really can't identify myself with your "dull life" that only consists of "sitting at home and playing with your pc" (others probably feel the same), so I'll continue to rightfully call you the g-word along with the other misfits.

Do you really consider that a good reply? What he said has been covered by every single pundit out there for the last 1,5 weeks...in which secluded place have you been living? Oh right, the basement.

First thanks, it feels good to know that there's people over the internet who care enough about me to take notes on what I put in my profile. The last time I edited it was pretty long ago, like probably several months ago, so you must have had a lapse in your observation, because that's been there for quite a while. I've only been talking to you on here at all for the last couple days, anyway. No, you don't make me feel insecure, because until the day that I for some reason meet you in person, you're just another faceless dick on the internet, who means nothing to me.

Moving on.. ACK is right and you totally did reel me in, so I guess you deserve a response.

I remember posting about how dull my life was, that was during the summer. I had to move to a different state, 600 miles away from all my friends and those I'd be going out and doing stuff with, so yeah, my summer was pretty dull. I did get out a bit and meet a few people, but what can I say? I don't think I've ever stated all I do is sit around at home playing with my PC, but if you can find me somewhere I've said that, I'll most definitely take that back.

Also, I'm 14. I'm not old enough to be a loser adult living in my parents basement yet, since I'm still being raised and stuff by my parents.

Anyways, my question is why the fuck would you bring peoples personal lives into this topic? Have you run out of talking points or stupid things to make fun of people for, or something?

Do you want to hear a funny story? Well, here it goes:

When I made those remarks about your dull life and profile, I actually thought I was talking to that Carrier weirdo. Since you're all pretty much crying the same tune, it's understandably hard to keep you, Carrier and the Streetfighter geeks apart...now here's the funny part: My assumptions turned out to be correct nonetheless...not only do you dweebs give the same gay teary-eyed replies, you all share the same sad life story.

Now I feel really bad.