
Subject: Re: Command And Conquer Red Alert 3 Fun Or Stupid.

Posted by Nukelt15 on Sat, 13 Sep 2008 01:09:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

w0dka wrote on Fri, 12 September 2008 16:33Nukelt15 wrote on Fri, 12 September 2008 16:15That settles it then- no RA3 for me. The game just isn't going to be good enough to justify the hassle of cracking SecuROM.

May come as a shock to you. Why not it?

BUY

I mean. ARMORED POLAR BEARS. Damm I need this game.

Bear cavalry online. Welcome back commander.

That's funny- I can't recall having said anything about not buying games. Your mastery of the language is so very impressive, isn't it?

Let me clarify: I do not pirate games, I buy them. I do, however, download and use cracks to bypass shitty DRM so that I'm not paying $60 for some half-assed phone-home security software to fuck up my $2500 computer. SecuROM is just about the most invasive DRM out there, so any game "protected" by it does not get installed on my computer until there is a proven-reliable crack to bypass it. RA3 will be a decent game at best, and I don't consider it worth the trouble (since it can sometimes take a fair bit of searching and fiddling around to un-DRM a game) when I could spend the same $60 on a great game with less obnoxious copy protection. Get the picture?
