just found out from the EA forums that the 5 install limit WILL NOT be used if you install/uninstall/reinstall the game all the while connected to the internet.

just make sure your ethernet cable is plugged in to your comp...EA Nazis will track your game files as you install for first time/register/and during reinstall..

Once they see you reinstalled the same serial/key on the same comp, they will give back the install limit back. or something like that...

but the this whole DRM looks a bit farstretched
