
Subject: Re: My Last Thread...

Posted by reborn on Tue, 16 Sep 2008 18:39:33 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

insert_name_here wrote on Tue, 16 September 2008 14:22

Yeah, but the novelty of news wear off after like 2-3 days, 4 max if it is really big news, so that is really a long time between blogs....most go for small updates like every week or so.

Given the regularity of news posts before, this is a vast improvement. Besides, I would rather have a news post actually news worthy, rather than just post small WIP content of say for example a barrel. I would prefer to keep the quality of the news content at the current level or higher, rather than lower it and just throw any old crap in there. We're also a small team, well... There is a large enough team if you really look, but only a few at any one time are active, so it would be hard to post completed work every week that's exciting.
