I think the community has spoken. Okay, so the vote was a tie, but the arguments tell the story. Seems most of them would rather have you change it to the gameplay that was intended rather than this joke of a way of gameplay. If anything, the gameplay we have as a result of this bug is "changed", so you guys are just correcting it, not changing it. It's definitely worth the inconvenience of those too lazy to do some walking to refill to fix the balance of the game that this destroys.
