no, an entire team of ramjets is doomed, but a couple of ramjets getting points for NO REASON while the rest of the team actually does something useful = perfectly capable of winning the game... FOR NO REASON Actually, not even. The tanks don't have to be doing anything useful. They can just sit inside the base the entire game and only help when the base gets rushed. The rest of the time, ramjets can just nab points. That is enough for them to win the game.
