I scripted a lot of it, used a few sources and managed it to connect to my mailservers SQL db.

The offer of .nl domain names do not count anymore.
It was only a offer of 1 month.

And no i dont steal hotmail accounts.
The service is free. I think you should try it since its very effective and hell its quick.

Also try out the support, i kinda made my own ticket support system.

also its 2007 because i used the template of my website
