Just because you haven't got a reply it does not mean you were ignored. Patience.

If he truly ignored you, ask again. Most people here aren't mean or rude, but I doubt that all users here have time to check the forums and work requests all day. There is only 7 hours time between your two posts.

That being said, I second samous's suggestion. If it really does not take very long to change it then we'd appreciate the effort.

Awesome job with the characters so far thanks. Although i ment about other stuff to, like the NCIS stuff and the star wars Sand Crwaler stuff.

These starwars droids where already made but not rigged to a charachter(flamethrower etc). So all the modeling has been done, texturing, uvw unwarp and go on. What you want is models from scratch.

New models cost time and that is basically the biggest problem

There is nothing wrong with your requests. Only this is a big request
