Subject: Re: i got a problem
Posted by JPNOD on Sat, 18 Oct 2008 04:59:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What operating system are you running?

Is it a USB hard drive. Or is it a IDE/SATA drive connected with a convertor to USB making it simmilair but you buy the drive and convertor seperate. This way is usally cheaper.

Did you check to see if the device is in the device manager and diskmanagement?
to do so:
go to start type in the run box or Vista search box. diskmgmt.msc