Hiya all, thank you all for voting us.

Well, for the last week or so, we over in Game-Maps have been discussion what we gonna do with the site and few nice ideas are going around, I like to share some with you...

We gonna link the site tutorials to forums, so each tutorial will have a topic there for users to discuss it, ask questions and that sort of thing.

A few new funtions will be added to the site like search and user ratings.

The site will also support the sister mod games, APB and Reborn with models and tutorials, since it's all the same.

Few of the menu pages, like Getting Started, Downloads, Renegade Models will be re-written and expanded on, few other pages be added.

A new web design and logo.

These few things are just some of what we thinking about.

We believe in team work so working on the site will no longer be a one man show, we have invited Oblivion165, Danpaul88 and Goztow to join us to help on the site. We may also be opening applications for people to join as staff who will fullfil duties among the site, I already have a eye on a few people here.

A time frame for all the changes hasn't been decided yet, but I feel it be a medium set of time.

Thanks again and thanks to Oblivion165 for this opportunity.
