Well here's the story, I've been coughing everyday for a year. After getting over the flu last summer my cough never went away. I've been getting made fun of in school and even people asking me about it and such on the streets. I have had,

-2 TB test

-2 X rays

-One cat scan

-2 blood test (one is allergies which is negative)

-Taken some asma meds and nothing

-Taken 2 prescription 7 day anti biotic pills

-Taken some addictive liquid medicine

All is negative or did not work

So no one knows what it is

Maybe someone here can give me some advice and help me. I've had this for a year or more and I'm sick of getting made fun of and running out of options.
