there's supposed to be a command-line option like "+skipbandtest" but I've yet see it work when direct connecting.

Anyway, yea...Set your connection type to "LAN/T1" or "Cable"

Or rather...just set your connection type in the first place